Horace Mann Students Have Varied Projects

Students attending classes at Horace Mann elementary school this summer are working on interesting projects and exhibits.

The kindergarten and nursery are combined this summer under the direction of Miss Geneva Brown who is substitute teaching for Miss Kathryn McKee.

Youngsters Study Pets

The children have been studying about pets. Each child brings a pet to school and tells his classmates about it. A June bug, a moth, a rabbit and a spider are among the pets having been discussed.

The boys and girls also watch turtles and fish that are in their room.

Several pictures painted by the students are on display in the kindergarten room. Paintings include pictures of houses, flowers, boats and animals.

Flowers in Room

In the kindergarten and nursery room are flowers, including several African violets.

First grade students, in connection with their study of circuses, are planning to make wild animals and cages for their animals. A small merry-go-round has already been made. Some toy wild animals such as giraffes, elephants, seals, and tigers are on display. An attractive table exhibit shows books about wild animals.

Children in the second grade class are studying ways a community has fun and vacations. The students have made a map of Maryville showing all the parks of the city.

Make Miniature Park

They also have made a facsimile of a park. They used their own ideas in making the various objects found in a park. Slides and swings are made with pipe cleaners and aluminum foil. Trees are made from construction paper. Strips of green cellophane paper rolled in balls represent bushes. People are made from modeling clay. A picnic table and bench are really discarded ice cream sticks and spoons. A shelter house in one corner of the park represents part of someone's toy building set.

The children are learning about animals and the zoo. A bulletin board has been made showing pictures of different animals.

Third graders have divided themselves into groups to study different kinds of plants and plant products. Specimens that have been brought into the room for study include a tobacco plant, an avocado seed, beans, a thistle plant and a branch of a smoke tree.

See Banana Tree

Plans are being made for a trip to see the banana plant in the college greenhouse.

The fourth grade is studying about the Southern states. In connection with this study, the students plan to make puppets and depict the life of Stephen Foster. They are going to make musical instruments such as banjos.

Two families of hamsters live in the fifth grade room. The family of four is the oldest, being six weeks old. The new family has 13 young ones in it. Miss Anna Gorsuch is supervising teacher.

Plan Field Trip

In connection with their study of rocks and minerals, members of the fifth grade are planning a field trip to hunt fossils. A visit to a hobby house in Maryville also is planned.

A bulletin board showing the different types of fun in the summer is on display.

The sixth grade in connection with its study of Hawaii has an exhibit showing objects which one associates with our 50th state including sea shells, specimens of cultured pearls, wooden bowls, a ukulele and a red lei.

Jr. High Studies Jobs

Seventh and eighth graders are studying about the possible occupations in Maryville. To supplement their studies, they have visited the Nodaway Valley Bank. Next they plan to visit the water plant and the telephone office.

Members of this class belong to a Tab Book Club. After reading a book, the student writes a play based upon the book, chooses characters and directs the play for the other class members.

LIBRARY SCIENCE CLASS TO TOUR SCHOOL LIBRARY

Thirty-five library science students from NWMSC will tour the library of Eastgate Junior High School, North Kansas City, on Thursday. The group plans to leave from the college at 7:30 a.m.

Transfer Students Gain Eligibility For Football

Three transfer students are attending NWMSC this summer to gain eligibility to play football this fall.

Al Dunn, a junior, transferred from Pasadena College in California; Dick McBride, a sophomore, came from Coe College in Iowa; and George Redden, also a sophomore, transferred from Wichita University.

Appointments

(Continued from Page One) his BFA degree from Ohio University in 1960. His major field is ceramics. Mr. Miller is married and the father of one child.
